

The Steadfast Pursue of Nativism

I stand before you as a representative of the Know-Nothing Party. Our party confirmly have pursued the pure value of the United States itself without disruption, without distraction, and without confusing identity, by any others who are not purely involved in the United States. This nativism, which represents our purpose of being here, would never vanish, never become lighter. Moreover, I am standing here to fortify our position, embedding our beliefs by heart. I especially have to point out the rising surge of immigrants. From Mideast to South, so to the overall nation, lots of immigrants from diverse countries including German and Irish peoples have threatened our pure existence. We have noticed the increasing frequency of encountering them as the time passes. However, we, as each responsibility of the Know-Nothing party, should notice the urgent issue of it seriously, not assimilating their presence as becoming familiar. From the small individual, finally to the large mass of foreign groups, causes the agitation of our economical, political, so to the overall stance of our nation. The Know-Nothing party symbols, we should practice Nativism without any fade.

Also, I can't help but to mention the slavery issue. In the United States, the polarized discussion between antislavery and proslavery prevails over the region. Officially, we distinguish ourselves from the side of proslavery, rather posing the opposition of slavery. And I am considering that, since the slavery issue is not a simple determination, there should be antithetical arguments even within our party. However, my point is that our prominent value, Nativism, should not be overshadowed by the issue of slavery. Rather, the Know-Nothing party should become one by integrating each responsibility for nativism.

I am sure that lots of controversial issues, even except for slavery issue, would appear and cause various confrontations among people. And, I am also sure that it is the essence of the valuable political party not to be swayed by these big and small issues, but to walk honestly in the direction that the party pursues.

Keeping this gist, and Along with this speech, along all the beliefs that we commonly retain, the Know-Nothing party would grow and thrive while steadfastly maintaining our commitment to Nativism.
